

Teck Trail Operations

Engaging with Our Community – Fall 2019

What We Heard:

In fall 2019, we shared information about Teck Trail Operations and gathered feedback from our community. This process was designed to provide an opportunity for you to hear directly from our team and give us input on what you are interested in and how you want to engage with us in the future.

What We Heard from Our Community

We heard that community members want to learn more about Trail Operations, what we do, how we do it, and how we're planning to be viable in the long term. All of the topics presented by our team were of interest for future engagement, with environmental performance and career opportunities topping the list.

There is interest in how we partner with economic development organizations and educational institutions to develop and increase awareness of the skills and training required to work at Trail Operations, particularly to increase diversity in our workforce and to ensure local residents have an opportunity to work with us.

Those who participated in the engagement were generally pleased with the progress we've made to address environmental and community impacts, but want us to continue our efforts, particularly around air quality, noise and climate change.

Finally, many appreciated the chance to engage with us and want more opportunities to continue the conversation.

What We're Doing with Your Input

We appreciate the time and effort that members of the community took to participate in this engagement process and to provide thoughtful feedback.

We'll take the input received during the engagement process and incorporate it into our strategic planning at Trail Operations. It will also inform our community engagement plans in 2020 and beyond.
